The Organizer reserves the right, at any time and in its sole discretion, to refuse an application or disqualify any individual who the Organizer has reason to believe has breached any of these Terms and Conditions, tampered with the applicant engaged in any unlawful or other improper misconduct calculated to jeopardize fair and proper conduct of the event.

III - SELECTION OF CANDIDATES

Article 3.1. Procedure

All applications fulfilling the conditions of participation indicated in paragraph II of this Regulation will be submitted to a pre-selection committee.

The Organizer shall give full discretion to the selection committee to determine the participants who will be selected to take part in the playoffs and final phases of the ONO'U World Graffiti Contest to be held in French Polynesia from 6 to 11 October 2017.

The committee will be composed of members of the jury of the final competition in Tahiti and its islands, artists and professionals of the discipline, and members of cultural associations. The committee is sovereign in its decisions and remains free from its appreciation and feelings in relation to the works presented.

The number of participants selected shall be 16 competitors. Among the 16 candidates selected, at least 2 places will be allocated to 2 Polynesian artists in order to allow the representation of French Polynesia at the ONO'U 2017 competition.

Article 3.2. Selection announcement

Selected competitors will be notified by mail or telephone within a week following the committee's deliberation. Their names will be published at the ONO'U festival website www.tahitifestivalgraffiti.com and ONO'U social media as of August 7, 2017.

The information published by the Organizer are based on the elements and works provided by the applicants under their sole responsibility and liability. The Organizer will not be held responsible in this regard. A right of access and rectification may however be exercised freely.

Article 3.3. Special case

If, after the deliberation, the Organizer has not been able to retain sufficient quality files for any reason, the organizer reserves the right to extend the registration and selection period of the participants, adjust the number of candidates selected or cancel the contest. The Organizer may establish a reserve list of additional candidates who would be contacted in the event of disability or abandonment of a pre-selected participant.

Article 3.4. Responsibility of Organizer

The responsibility of Tahiti New Generation, the organizer of the ONO'U 2017 World Festival and Contest, can not be called into question if, for a case of force majeure or a reason beyond its control, the contest must be modified, postponed or canceled.

Additives or amendments to these rules may be made up to seven (7) days before the deadline for submission of applications. These elements will form an integral part of the rules and will be accessible on the official website of the contest: <https://www.tahitifestivalgraffiti.com>. Pre-registered participants will receive an email informing them of the changes made.

IV - COMMITMENTS OF COMPETITORS

All candidates are committed to acceptance of the below terms and conditions.

Article 4.1. Travel to Tahiti

Applicants must be available and able to participate in person to the playoff and final stages of the competition in Tahiti and its islands, from October 5 to 12, 2017.
